

Could be any type of function that gets called from a Proxy instance. For example: searchAreasByName

The communication between Proxy and Skeleton must be implemented through sockets and RequestType enumeration class

This is where the server interacts with the database through JDBC calls